CHAPTER 1

1155	WHAT PARTS NATURE CONSTRUCTED TO RESTORE THE SUBSTANCE OF AIR, AND WHICH ONES PARTICULARLY ASSIST THE VITAL SPIRIT	569	708
1155	Argument of the Sixth Book	569	708
1155	How Air Is Distributed in Respiration; Summary of the Function of the Heart and the Parts Accessory Thereto	569	708
1156	The Function of Respiration and Pulse Is the Same	570	709

CHAPTER 2

1157	ON THE TUNIC UNDERGIRDING THE RIBS	570	709
1157	Name and Location of the Tunic Undergirding the Ribs	570	709
1157	Size	570	709
1157	Shape	570	709
1158	What the Surfaces of the Tunic Are like, and What Their Attachment Is to Other Parts	570	710
1158	Foramina of the Costal Tunic	571	710
1158	Substance of the Tunic Undergirding the Ribs	571	710
1159	Beginning of the Tunic	571	711
1159	Tunic Belonging to Each of the Ribs	571	711
1159	Function of the Costal Tunic and the Method of Its Construction	571	711

CHAPTER 3

1160	ON THE MEMBRANES PARTITIONING THE CAVITY OF THE THORAX	572	711
1160	Nomenclature of the Partitioning Membranes	572	712
1160	Number, Location, Shape, Size	572	712
1160	How the Partitioning Membranes Keep Apart	572	712
1161	What Is Placed between the Partitioning Membranes	572	712
1161	What Things Enter into the Substance of the Partitioning Membranes: Fat; the Glandular Body; Veins, Arteries	573	713
1162	Origin of the Partitioning Membranes	573	713
1162	Use of the Partitioning Membranes	573	713

CHAPTER 4

1163	ON THE ROUGH ARTERY	573	714
1163	Number and Location of the Rough Artery	574	714
1163	Bodies Attached to the Rough Artery	574	714
1164	Form of the Rough Artery	574	715
1165	What the Outer Surface of the Rough Artery Is Like	575	715
1165	Connections of the Rough Artery	575	715
1165	What the Inner Surface of the Rough Artery Is Like	575	716
1166	Substance of the Rough Artery	575	–
1166	Of What Cartilages the Rough Artery Is Constructed	575	–
1167	How the Cartilages of the Rough Artery Are Connected to Each Other	576	717
1167	Outer of Two Tunics of the Rough Artery	576	717
1167	Inner Tunic	576	717
1167	Glands Attached to the Root of the Larynx	576	717
1168	Function of the Rough Artery; Reason for Its Construction and Placement	577	717
1168	The Rough Artery Needed to Be Constructed of a Membranous Substance	577	718
1169	Why Cartilage Enters into the Make-Up of the Rough Artery	577	718
1169	Use of the Fissure of the Larynx	577	719
1169	Generation of the Voice	578	719
1169	Function of the Operculum of the Larynx	578	719
1170	Coordination of the Cartilages	578	719
1170	The Tunics of the Rough Artery Are Well Constructed	578	719
1170	Purpose of the Fat and Glandules of the Larynx	578	720
1171	APPENDIX A: Revised Version of the Section on the Substance of the Rough Artery and Its Cartilages	–	716
1171	APPENDIX B: Additional Section at the End of Chapter 4	–	720
1171	Why the Larynx and Esophagus Rise and Fall in Alternation with Each Other	–	720

CHAPTER 5

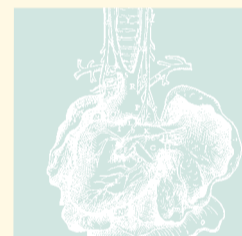

1172	ON THE GLANDULES OF THE THROAT	579	720
1172	The Throat, fauces	579	721
1172	Ἴσθμός	579	721
1173	Three Types of Glandule in the Throat; First; Second	579	721
1173	Παρίσθμια	579	721
1173	Ἀντιάδες	579	721
1174	Third Type of Gland Placed in the Throat	579	722

CHAPTER 6

1175	ON THE UVULA	580	722
1175	Names of the Uvula	580	722
1175	Location, Shape, and Substance of the Uvula	580	722
1175	Function	580	722

CHAPTER 7

1176	ON THE LUNG	580	723
1176	Location of the Lung	580	723
1176	Shape of the Lung	581	723
1177	Into How Many Lobes or Sections the Lung Is Divided	581	724
1178	No Lobe of the Lung Supports the Stalk of the Vena Cava in Man	581	724
1178	What the Surface of the Lung Is like; Attachment of the Lung	582	725
1178	Substance of the Lung; Vessels of the Lung	582	725
1179	Tunic of the Lung	582	725
1179	Nerves of the Lung	582	725
1179	Function and Construction of the Lung	582	726
1180	System of the Pulmonary Vessels	585 [583]	–
1180	Reason for the Tunic	585 [583]	–

CHAPTER 8

1181	ON THE WRAPPING OF THE HEART	585 [583]	726
1181	Shape of the Wrapping of the Heart	585 [583]	726
1181	To What Vessels the Wrapping of the Heart Provides Passage	585 [583]	727
1181	Beginning of the Wrapping of the Heart	585 [583]	727
1182	Site of the Wrapping of the Heart	584	727
1182	Substance of the Wrapping of the Heart	584	727
1182	Surface and Attachments of the Wrapping	584	727
1183	By What Vessels and Nerves the Wrapping Is Implicated	584	728
1183	Use of the Wrapping and Rationale for Its Construction	584	728
1183	What Kind of Water Is Observed in the Wrapping	584	728

CHAPTER 9

1185	ON THE POSITION AND SHAPE OF THE HEART	585	729
1185	Figure of the Heart	585	729
1185	Nature of the Surface of the Heart	585	729
1185	Position of the Heart	585	730
1186	Size of the Heart	586	730

CHAPTER 10

1187	ON THE SUBSTANCE OF THE HEART	586	731
1187	Flesh of the Heart	586	731
1187	Fibers of the Heart	586	731
1188	Function of the Flesh of the Heart	587	732
1188	Function of the Fibers	587	732
1189	Intrinsic Veins and Arteries of the Substance of the Heart	588	733
1189	Small Nerve of the Heart	588	733
1190	Tunic Attached to the Substance of the Heart	588	733
1190	Fat of the Heart	588	733

CHAPTER 11

1191	ON THE SINUSES OR VENTRICLES OF THE HEART	588	733
1191	Number and Location of the Ventricles	588	733
1191	Shape of the Right Ventricle	588	733
1191	Shape of the Left Ventricle	588	734
1192	Surfaces of the Ventricles	589	734

CHAPTER 12

1193	ON THE VESSELS OF THE HEART AND THEIR ORIFICES	589	735
1193	How Many Vessels of the Heart There Are, and What They Are	589	735
1193	Vena Cava	589	735
1194	The Arterial Vein	590	735
1194	The Venous Artery	590	736
1195	Differing Opinions of Anatomists about the Orifices of the Heart	590	–
1195	The Great Artery	590	736
1196	APPENDIX: Revised Chapter Ending: The Size of the Heart's Orifices	–	736
1196	Anatomists Differ in Counting the Orifices	–	736

CHAPTER 13

1197	ON THE ELEVEN SMALL MEMBRANES OF THE FOUR ORIFICES OF THE HEART	591	737
1197	Number of Membranes	591	737
1197	Membranes of the Vena Cava	591	737
1198	Membranes of the Venous Artery	592	738
1199	Membranes of the Arterial Vein	592	738

CHAPTER 14

1200	ON THE AURICLES OF THE HEART	593	739
1200	Location of the Two Auricles of the Heart	593	739
1200	Location and Shape of the Right Auricle	593	739
1201	Substance of the Right Auricle	593	740
1201	Attachment of the Auricle	593	740
1201	Left Auricle of the Heart	593	740

CHAPTER 15

1202	FUNCTION AND USE OF THE HEART AND ITS AFOREMENTIONED PARTS, AND THE REASON FOR THEIR CONSTRUCTION	594	741
1202	Of What Soul the Heart Is the Seat	594	741
1203	The Physician Must Think about the Faculties and Seat of the Soul	594	741
1203	The Function Performed by All Parts of the Heart	594	742
1203	Use of the Involucrum	595	742
1203	Reason for the Site of the Heart	595	742
1203	Not All Parts of the Heart Are Equally Worthy	595	–
1204	Reason for the Shape of the Heart	595	742
1204	Function of the Heart's Substance	595	742
1204	Function of the Coronary Vein	595	742
1204	Function of the Coronary Arteries	596	742
1205	Function of the Small Nerve of the Heart	596	742
1205	Function of the Heart's Right Ventricle	596	743
1205	Function of the Orifice of the Vena Cava Extending into the Heart	596	743
1206	Function of the Arterial Vein, and Its Design	596	743
1206	Function of the Right Auricle and the Manner of Its Construction	597	744
1206	Function of the Small Membranes Controlling the Orifice of the Vena Cava	597	744
1207	Design of the Membranes in the Orifice of the Arterial Vein	597	744
1207	Design of the Left Ventricle's Function and Construction	598	745
1208	Function of the Flesh of the Heart	598	–
1208	Design of the Body of the Venous Artery	598	745
1208	Function of the Left Auricle of the Heart	598	745
1209	Function of the Small Membranes of the Venous Artery and the Great Artery	598	745
1209	What Matters Have Been Explained in This Book	599	–
1210	APPENDIX: Revised Ending of Chapter 15	–	746
1210	One Must Not Casually Agree with the Widely Published Opinions of Anatomists	–	746

CHAPTER 16

1211	METHOD OF DISSECTING THE HEART, LUNGS, AND OTHER ORGANS SERVING RESPIRATION	599	747
1211	Dissection of Certain Muscles and Vessels	599	–
1212	Freeing the Clavicles from the Pectoral Bone	599	747
1212	Freeing the Rib Cartilages and Pectoral Bone from the Rib Bones	599	748
1212	Inspection of the Membranes Partitioning the Space of the Thorax	599	748
1213	Nerves of the Transverse Septum	600	748
1213	Examination of the Wrapping of the Heart	600	748
1214	Examining the Distribution of the Vena Cava through the Thorax and Throat	600	749
1215	Examining the Distribution of the Great Artery through the Thorax, Throat, and Neck; the Recurrent Nerve	601	749
1216	Inflation of the Lung	601	750
1216	Examining the Right Ventricle and the Membranes of Its Orifices	601	750
1217	Examining the Beginning of the Vena Cava	602	751
1217	Examining the Orifice and Membranes of the Arterial Vein	602	751
1217	Examining the Left Sinus of the Heart and Its Vessels and Membranes	602	751
1218	Examining the Cartilaginous Substance of the Heart	602	752
1218	The Rough Artery; the Lung	602	752
1218	The Esophagus	603	752
1218	The Liver	603	752
1219	Examining What Runs along the Vertebral Bodies	603	753
1220	Examining the Muscles Moving the Arm, Scapula, Thorax, Head, and Spine; Temporal and Masseter Muscles	603	753
1220	Opening of the Mouth and Examination of Organs Located in the Throat	603	753
1222	APPENDIX A: Introduction and First Section of Chapter 16	–	747
1222	Dissection of Certain Muscles and Vessels	–	747
1223	APPENDIX B: Examining What Runs along the Vertebral Bodies	–	752
